Judith Carr
CHAIR
SOUTH AUSTRALIAN HERITAGE COUNCIL

Plans and Objectives

The South Australian Heritage Council (Council) Strategic Plan 2012-15, as approved by the Minister for Sustainability, Environment and Conservation (the Minister), sets out Council's strategic directions for its three year term. Key Directions in the Strategic Plan are intended to support the fulfilment and enhancement of the Council's functions under the Heritage Places Act 1993 (the Act).

Recognising the strategic context within which it operates, the Council is committed to promoting actions and activities that contribute to the achievement of the following objectives and targets in South Australia's Strategic Plan.

Objectives and Targets	Council Contribution
Target 32 Performance in the public sector – customer and client satisfaction with government services: increase satisfaction with government services by 10% by 2014	Transparent and rigorous consideration of nominations for, and the maintenance of the South Australian Heritage Register (Register).
Target 33 Government planning decisions: South Australia leads the nation in timely decisions of development applications through to 2020	Provision of strategic advice, policy development and administration of heritage matters under the Act and the Development Act 1993.
Target 4 Tourism industry: increase visitor expenditure in South Australia	Promotion of linkages between heritage and tourism to attract more tourists.
Target 99: Cultural engagement – institutions: increase attendances at cultural institutions by 20% by 2014 and maintain or improve thereafter	Promotion, education, interpretation, partnerships with SA Tourism Commission and History SA, Local Government and similar organisations.

Heritage Directions

First prepared in 2003, Heritage Directions was updated in 2012 to strengthen its alignment with South Australia's Strategic Plan and to incorporate key policy directions associated with the 30-Year Plan for Greater Adelaide.

Heritage Directions 2012 explores a number of themes - reflecting an evolution in community thinking about heritage issues. It sets priorities for conserving and celebrating our past and achieving the Government's vision for creating vibrant cities, healthy neighbourhoods and safe communities.

Heritage Directions 2012 includes six (6) broad directions.

- A legislative and policy framework to support better management of heritage.
- Fostering partnerships with others.
- Government leadership for heritage.
- Education and training of the community and industry in heritage.
- Appreciation, celebration and promotion of this State's unique cultural heritage.
- Sustainability and adaptive reuse of our heritage places to ensure they remain in use for future generations.

During 2014-15 the Council continued to further the objectives of Heritage Directions, in particular through advice to the Expert Panel on Planning Reform which aimed to ensure better management of and Government leadership in heritage.

Legislation and Role

Objects of the Act

The Act has the following objects as prescribed in section 2:

- (a) to recognise the importance of South Australia's heritage places and related objects in understanding the course of the State's history, including its natural history; and
- (b) to provide for the identification and documentation of places and related objects of State heritage significance; and
- (c) to provide for and promote the conservation of places and related objects of State heritage significance; and
- (d) to promote an understanding and appreciation of the State's heritage; and
- (e) to encourage the sustainable use and adaptation of heritage places in a manner consistent with high standards of conservation practice, the retention of their heritage significance, and relevant development policies.

Functions of the South Australian Heritage Council

The Council is established under section 4 and has the following functions as prescribed in section 5A of the Act.

- (a) to provide advice (especially from a strategic perspective) to the Minister for Sustainability, Environment and Conservation on matters relating to:

- (i) trends, shortcomings and opportunities with respect to heritage protection at the State and local level and, insofar as may be relevant, at the national level;
  - (ii) the development and effectiveness of heritage conservation programs, policies, initiatives and incentives;
  - (iii) the operation and enforcement of this Act; and
  - (iv) other issues referred to the Council by the Minister of Environment and Conservation for consideration and report;
- (b) to administer the Act including:
- (i) maintenance of the South Australian Heritage Register;
  - (ii) identification of places, and related objects, of State heritage significance, and entering them in the Register;
  - (iii) identification of areas of State heritage significance, and promoting their establishment, in appropriate cases, as State Heritage Areas under the Development Act 1993;
  - (iv) initiating or supporting community awareness programs that promote public understanding and appreciation of the State's heritage; and
  - (v) promoting the objects of the Heritage Places Act 1993 in such other manner as the Council determines, including through the work of other bodies or persons;
- (c) to provide advice (especially from a strategic perspective) to the Minister for Urban Development, Planning and the City of Adelaide to whom the administration of the Development Act 1993 is committed on matters relating to:
- (i) the interpretation or application of the criteria set out in section 23(4) of that Act (and, if appropriate, the consideration of any potential amendment with respect to those criteria); and
  - (ii) other matters on which that Minister is required to consult with the Council under the provisions of that Act;
- (d) to perform any other function assigned to the Council by or under the Heritage Places Act 1993 or any other Act.

South Australian Heritage Register – State Heritage Places

A place may be entered in the Register as a State Heritage Place if it is judged by the Council to meet one or more of the seven criteria specified in section 16 of the Act. The Register contains a description or notes with respect to places of heritage value to the State.

In 2014-15, nine State Heritage Places were provisionally entered in the Register. In addition nine provisionally entered State Heritage Places were confirmed by the Council and one was removed under section 18(7) of the Act.

There were 2,283 confirmed entries in the Register at 30 June 2015 (refer to Appendix A for summary tables of State Heritage Places by Local Government Areas).

The places listed in 2014-15 were diverse in their nature and in the criteria under section 16 that were met. This diversity is demonstrated in the three confirmed State Heritage Places discussed below.

Normanville Wesleyan Cemetery

The Normanville Wesleyan Cemetery was confirmed on the Register on 22 April 2015.

It is an important representative of the religious burial practices of the second half of the 19th century.

In particular, the Cemetery demonstrates the burial practices of the Wesleyan Methodist denomination. Such cemeteries have become increasingly scarce in South Australia, through the destruction of gravesites with an increased demand for burial plots as the state's population has grown.

The Cemetery is a rare surviving example of a 19th-century chapel-yard burial ground that has remained untouched by 20th-century development.

It provides examples of exemplary quality headstones by monumental masons George Sara, E H Herring and W Hawken. The headstones at Normanville Wesleyan Cemetery are important to South Australia through the outstanding aesthetic, creative and technical accomplishments of the monuments.

The image above shows the Normanville Wesleyan Cemetery, 18 Main South Road, Normanville looking south-south-east. (J Collins, April 2014).

Ajax Mine Fossil Reef

Ajax Mine Fossil Reef is a State Heritage Place as it meets criteria '(c) it may yield information that will contribute to an understanding of the state's history, including its natural history' and is a designated place of paleontological and geological significance. It was confirmed on the Register on 28 August 2014.

The former Ajax copper mine is the location of one of the most significant finds of archaeocyath fossils in the world. Archaeocyaths (ancient cups) were some of the earliest known marine sponges with mineral skeletons which lived in the Lower Cambrian period, around 525 million years ago. These organisms proved highly successful, and over a 10 million year period diversified into a huge array of different forms and over 100 species, playing a dominant role in constructing the Earth's first reefs.

The image above is an example of Archaeocyath fossils exposed in a natural pavement of the Early Cambrian Ajax Limestone within the Fossil Reef. (J. Gehling, 2012)

The large ridge of fossiliferous limestone located at the former mine is known throughout the world as the Ajax Limestone. Remarkably in the context of such finds, the Ajax Limestone contains a sample of almost every archaeocyath species known to have existed within the Australian-Antarctic province, and has a diversity which is far in excess of any other assemblage in the province. In addition to this representativeness, the limestone also contains over 100 type species – species that define a genus. The site is one of the key points of reference for those studying the earliest stages of development for Life on Earth.

Fort Largs Barracks and Drill Hall

The Fort Largs Barracks and Drill Hall was confirmed on the Register on 22 April 2015.

The Fort Largs Barracks and Drill Hall buildings are of historic significance to South Australia as an illustration of a purpose built defensive barracks, erected in direct response to urgent Commonwealth and State mobilisation initiatives and coastal defence needs directly before the Second World War. The Barracks and Drill Hall were built in 1939 as the nucleus of a reconstructed and strengthened Fort Largs – the only remaining coastal defensive battery site protecting the coast of Adelaide during the period.

The buildings stand as places of importance within the military and political history of pre-Second World War South Australia and are in excellent condition and high in historic integrity. The position, functional layout, scale and architectural style of both buildings, within their open setting, clearly illustrate their intended purpose and the historic context of the Fort Largs Barracks and Drill Hall in 1939.

South Australian Heritage Register – State Heritage Areas

Under the Act, the Council may recommend the creation of State Heritage Areas through the process of preparing Development Plan Amendments under the provisions of the Development Act 1993. No new areas were recommended for the 2014-15 reporting period (Appendix A contains a list of State Heritage Areas).

South Australian Heritage Fund

The South Australian Heritage Fund is established under section 10 of the Act, and money from the fund is applied to further the objects of the Act as specified in section 12. The Fund meets the accounting criteria of a controlled entity and is accounted for in the Department of Environment, Water and Natural Resources Financial Statements and Annual Report. During 2014-15 there was no money allocated from the Fund.

Heritage Agreements

Part 6 of the Act provides for Heritage Agreements to promote the conservation of State Heritage Places. A Heritage Agreement attaches to the land and is binding on the current owner of the land whether or not that owner was the person with whom the agreement was made. The Minister may, after seeking and considering the advice of the Council, enter into a Heritage Agreement or, by agreement with the owner of the land to which a Heritage Agreement applies, vary or terminate an agreement.

During the 2014-15 year the Council provided advice to the Minister on the following Heritage Agreements:

- Mount Breckan House, 17-25 Renown Avenue, Victor Harbor;
- Bangalore Fruit Block (including the house, garden, outbuildings and structures)

As at 30 June 2015, Heritage Agreements were in place relating to the following State Heritage Places:

- Former Bank SA, Gawler Street, Mount Barker;
- Belmont, Brougham Place, North Adelaide;
- St Vigeans Estate Garden, Laurel Road, Stirling;
- Beechwood Garden and Conservatory, Snows Road, Stirling;
- Three Row Cottages and Associated Structures, 34, 36 & 38 Finniss Street, Gawler;
- Dwelling ('Marble Hill') - Former Governors' Summer Residence (Ruin);
- Former John Knox Church and Former John Knox School, William Street, Morphett Vale;
- Mount Breckan House, 17-25 Renown Avenue, Victor Harbor; and
- Bangalore Fruit Block (including the house, garden, outbuildings and structures)

Advice

In July 2014, the Council received correspondence from the Premier regarding reform of Boards and Committees in Government. The Council provided advice to the Minister for Sustainability, Environment and Conservation outlining reasons why retention of the Council and its Register Committee would be in the best interests of South Australia's built and natural heritage. Government determined that the Council would be retained. At its December 2014 meeting Council abolished the Register Committee and determined that it would manage both the State Heritage Place provisional listing and confirmation processes going forward.

The Council was consulted by the Expert Panel on Planning Reform regarding proposals to reform the South Australian planning system. The Council provided a submission on 'Reform 10: Placing Heritage on Renewed Foundations' on 24 September 2014.

In May 2015, Council provided further advice to the Department of Planning, Transport and Infrastructure on the planning reforms in regard to their impact on the effective listing and ongoing management of State and local heritage places.

In December 2014 the Council was consulted by the Australian Heritage Council in relation to a proposed mining development by Altona Energy in the Arckaringa Hills area of South Australia.

On 15 January 2015, the Council provided the Minister for Sustainability, Environment and Conservation with its 6th Report on Heritage Protection. The report provided advice on shortcomings, trends and opportunities in heritage protection at the State and local level in South Australia.

On 9 June 2015 the Council provided comment on the Review of the Disability (Access to Premises – Building) Standards 2010 to the Commonwealth Department of Industry and Science.
