STATE HERITAGE PLACE – No. 12376

This little know Railway Station is approximately 145 kms north of Adelaide, located 7kms east of the township of Mintaro.

This property is important for the manner in which it reflects features of the development of the railways in South Australia. The design and detailing of the item also mean that it is of architectural interest.

The station was built in 1870 when the northern railway line was extended from Roseworthy to Burra.
