Property managers in the SA Arid Lands region: are you looking to strengthen your business and realise its full potential?

Then expand your horizons at one of three regional workshops where you will hear from our thought-provoking guest speakers (including landscape ecologist Hugh Pringle) to find out the latest on tools, techniques and technologies in rangelands management.

Find out:

- How managing our rangelands and understanding our drainage systems can benefit production and your bottom line
- How satellite technology can help you identify erosion hotspots and assess your groundcover
- How environmental conditions could lead to disease outbreaks and affect your pastoral productivity
- How you can drive your property's profitability through better business management – matching production to seasons, animal nutrition and food on offer

This is also an exciting opportunity to tell us what you want to hear more about and to help set our agenda for similar workshops in 2016.
